The Design + AI Summit

AI is evolving faster than any creative professional can track on their own. New tools, new models, and new workflows appear every week—and knowing what truly matters has become the real challenge.

The Design + AI Summit 2026 is your place to cut through the noise. This year's event features two focused 2-day programs—Part 1 on April 9–10, 2026 and Part 2 on September 17–18, 2026—so you can stay current with the rapid pace of AI all year long. Attend Part 1, Part 2, or join us for all four days.

Across both programs, you'll explore the latest updates to Adobe Firefly and partner models, work with new AI features in Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign, and Express, compare leading models and tools, and learn practical workflows for prompting, automation, AI video, and cross-app production. You'll also gain guidance on the legal and ethical questions shaping the industry today.

Each session is taught by experts who understand creative work, giving you practical skills you can apply immediately—whether you're building a foundation or refining advanced workflows.

If you want to stay current, work more efficiently, and understand how AI fits into your day-to-day process, you can't afford to miss this event!

"Prior to this event, I had a negative feeling regarding AI. I was worried it would steal my job. This actually gave me hope and helped me to realize I can get a leg up on this and allow it to be an asset, not a hindrance."

— Kristin Trusco, Graphic Designer,
American Dental Association

"I got so much valuable information on how to improve my skills knowledge. I cannot express enough how important and valuable CreativePro Events have been for my professional development."

— Suzanne Morikawa
Marketing and Communication
Specialist, University of California
